

Mural project for Bristol

Asylum seeking people and Disabled people: Our experiences of the Covid pandemic.

We are inviting disabled people asylum seekers and refugees to join us for a new project.

We will be making a mural, or a big painting, in Bristol.

We want to show other people:

- What our lives are like.
- What we want to change.

You don't need to be good at drawing!

You can put your ideas in words, drawings or photographs.

Everyone will be given everything they need to take part.

For example, pens and paper.

If it's safe we will meet up.

Or we can talk on the phone, or meet on the internet.

We will decide together what we want other people to know about our experiences during Covid.

An artist will help put all the ideas together into one big mural.

The mural will be shown in Bristol.

When the mural is finished we will have a big celebration.

We will invite people who we want to see the mural and to hear what we need to say.

We will explain our messages.

We will work together to try to make things better for all of us.
